WHAT WE INHERIT.

WHAT WE CREATE.

WHAT WE CARRY FORWARD.

Culture isn’t fixed in time.

It is inherited and reinterpreted, questioned and created, lived and shared.

Urban Suburban Perspectives works across Heritage, Art and Culture, exploring how what we inherit continues to find meaning in contemporary life.

WHO WE ARE

Heritage, Art and Culture - Kept in Motion.

A place, a building, a story, a tradition or a way of making can hold meaning far beyond where it began.

USP brings together people, knowledge and different perspectives to explore how these inheritances can remain meaningful in the present—and become a starting point for new ideas, creative expression and opportunity.

Across Heritage, Art and Culture, the work takes different forms, each shaped by its own context and the people involved. Through it, people can develop skills, share knowledge, shape what is created and open new pathways to livelihood.

OUR WORK

Shaped by Place, Knowledge and Perspectives.

Each initiative begins differently—with a place, an idea, a practice or a question worth exploring. Its direction develops from the context and from the knowledge and perspectives that become part of the work.

01 — RAKHIGARHI

5,000 Years of History. A Place Still Evolving.

One of the most significant archaeological sites of the Indus Valley Civilisation is also a living village—where history, architecture, knowledge and everyday life continue alongside one another.

Explore →

02 — THEATRE

Stories Brought to Life. Conversations Opened.

USP creates original theatre drawn from culture, lived experiences and familiar relationships, rituals and social conventions that shape everyday life.

Explore →

03 — CRAFT & LIVELIHOOD

Where Tradition Finds New Expression.

In Rakhigarhi, women are developing craft through knowledge, practice and creative exchange—strengthening skills while creating pathways to livelihood.

Explore →

04 — WORKSHOPS & LEARNING

Knowledge Shared. Skills Developed.

Learning happens through real work—from interpreting the history of a place and restoring a historic building to making, designing and participating in projects as they develop.

Explore →

WHAT TAKES SHAPE

The Value Can Extend Beyond the Initiative.

A restored building can find new purpose. Conservation skills can remain with the people who learn them. Knowledge of a place can become a livelihood. Craft can develop new forms and economic value. A performance can leave behind a conversation.

What begins through one initiative can create possibilities beyond it.

FIELD NOTES

From the Work, as It Unfolds.

Some of the most interesting experiences happen along the way.

Small observations, discoveries and stories from the people and places that are part of USP's work.

RAKHIGARHI / HERITAGE

What Was Already There.

Objects, memories and traces of everyday life encountered through the work.

Read the Story →

RAKHIGARHI / CRAFT

The OG Basket Makers.

Two experienced basket makers whose knowledge and skill inspire a new generation.

Read the Story →

Explore Field Notes →

CONNECT

Be Part of What Takes Shape Next.

There are different ways to become part of the work—through collaboration, participation, learning, or support for an initiative.

Collaborate →

Volunteer →

Get in Touch →